What if there were no “Pearly Gates”? I am not asking this to provoke a philosophical debate. What I mean to ask is...What if, instead of Pearly Gates, there was a reception desk? What type of reception desk would it be? What would it look like?

That question can be answered without the benefit of divine inspiration. If the celestial requirement was for a mobile reception desk the response would be the Nomad Desk. Nomad is available in three configurations, each with unique features and the option of customization with one-of-a-kind designs (just in case they have a logo or something like that up there).

If the reception area to paradise required a desk that would be a little more “eternal” in its location, Milan or Domino Desks would be chosen (maybe both during busy season). While Milan and Domino each have their own heavenly styles, both desks are offered in three sizes of right and left main units plus return units. Matching credenza units are also available for those in search of storage perfection.

I know what your thinking...if MTCContracts desks are up above, whose are –well, you know – down below? I can honestly tell you that I don’t know...

He’s not one of OUR customers.

MTContract is the largest furniture manufacturer in Michigan (that is located in the 49455 zip code). We have been making amazing wood products in the beautiful village of Shelby since 1984. Ok, we started with electric guitars, but we graduated to furniture in '89.

Our mediatechnologies brand of K-12 and public library furniture has earned the reputation of being "30-year furniture" (which means it lasts for a long time). Our strength lies in finding unique solutions to our customers' furniture needs because we have a rare and special talent... we actually listen to our customers. We are excited to be able to share this talent with you.

So, I guess you can say,
